

Text transcript of ATP Animation

ATP molecules store and supply energy for cellular processes. An ATP molecule contains three building blocks: the flat purine ring system containing multiple nitrogen atoms shown in blue, the ribose sugar in the middle, and the three phosphate groups with the phosphorus atoms shown in yellow.